

Using the Student BYOD WiFi Network

Connecting to the Network

1. In your device's wireless settings, connect your wireless device to the "IUFSD_BYOD_STUDENTS" SSID.

Authenticating to the Network (MONTHLY on each device)

1. After connecting to the SSID, most devices will automatically redirect you to a Meraki splash page as shown below. If your device does not redirect you automatically, you may need to open a web browser and attempt to access an insecure (non-HTTPS) website such as <http://www.islipufsd.org>.

Welcome to ISLIP_BYOD_STUDENTS

Islip Public Schools Student BYOD

No support will be provided for devices on this network.

Please read the below in its entirety for important information about this BYOD network.

Enter your network credentials on this page in order to connect your personal device to this network. After doing so, you will be redirected to a second login page to identify yourself to the district's content filter.

Disclaimer: You are about to access an insecure WiFi connection, which is being provided to you by and at the discretion of Islip Public Schools and its Network Operations Department.

If you already have an account on this network, sign in here:

2. Enter the username and password you use to log on to district devices (for example smijoh), then click "sign in." (Do not include @islipufsd.org)

Authenticating against Forcepoint THIS MUST BE DONE DAILY

In order to receive the proper Internet filtering policy, you must identify yourself to Forcepoint.

1. If you received the Meraki splash page, you should be redirected to the Forcepoint portal automatically. However certain browsers and platforms may not perform this redirection automatically, in which case you should visit <http://www.islipufsd.org> to receive the Forcepoint portal page.

If you attempt to access a secure (HTTPS) site, this will not work. Note that many sites, including Google and Bing, default to HTTPS.

You will see the following:
